

to my dream college

In Egypt's embrace, a senior stands tall,
Dreams as vast as the Pyramids, heed the call.
Through trials and tribulations, a journey untold,
Seeking a path paved in the stars, pure gold.

Amidst the Nile's whispers and the ancient sand,
A soul aspires to join a distant land.
To the USA, with hopes on high,
A fervent heart beneath the Egyptian sky.

In the crucible of challenge, resilience forged,
Scholarly ambitions, tirelessly urged.
Through the labyrinth of circumstance, strides were made,
Each hardship faced, a foundation laid.

A seeker of knowledge, aspirations held high,
USA's shores beckon, 'neath the azure sky.
In the tapestry of dreams, a university unfolds,
A beacon of wisdom, its tales yet untold.

From countless options, one chosen with care,
In the realm of academia, a treasure rare.
A pledge to contribute, to learn and to grow,
In the hallowed halls where intellects glow.

As acceptance hovers like a fleeting dove,
A promise to contribute, to radiate love.
To be more than a student, but a community's heart,
In the dance of endeavors, each a unique part.

A name unspoken, a university undisclosed,
Yet, in passion's embrace, its allure composed.
For the dreamer knows, if given the chance,
To make a difference, leave an indelible stance.

In the mosaic of applicants, like stars in the night,
A fervent hope that stands out, burning bright.
For this dream, this chosen university's door,
To swing open wide, welcoming forevermore.
